The Samburu Project

How You Can Get Your School Involved!

The Samburu Project's TRIBE teaches youth about life without water through the eyes of the Samburu people who have struggled with the lack of clean, safe drinking water for generations. The goal of TRIBE is to encourage youth to conserve water locally while raising awareness and/or money towards the issue of clean drinking water.

TRIBE offers youth the opportunity to launch a social entrepreneurial endeavor, creating current and future agents of change. Event planning, establishing relationships with local businesses, and securing sponsorships are a just a few ways students are engaging the community.

Through the WaterSense partnership with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), TRIBE provides educational opportunities and resources to students to encourage and promote water efficient products and lifestyles in their own communities.

You can be involved in the TRIBE program by participating in TSP's fund raisers, community presentations, spreading awareness to friends and family, and taking action by conserving water in your local community. Show your support for TRIBE by volunteering at our various community events throughout the school year!

You can help further the efforts of The Samburu Project by allowing high school students the opportunity to become involved in its mission.

The club aims to spread the objectives of the organization to adolescents and increase local involvement in The Samburu Project. Through fundraising, promoting green practices, and raising awareness for the cause, the club hopes to enhance the lives of the Samburu people.

We engage the community by creating a presence at local Farmer's Markets and other community events, World Water Day, Earth Day Celebrations, School Assemblies and more.

The Samburu Project's annual Walk for Water event is held each Spring in observance of World Water Day. The Walk for Water is a peer to peer fundraising event in which students walk in solidarity with our Samburu sisters. "We Walk So Others Don't Have To." TRIBE will be working in concert with the Samburu Project staff as volunteers and fundraisers. The funds raised from the event will go directly to supporting the mission of The Samburu Project.

Water is: health, education, community, empowerment, dignity, hope, LIFE.
